

Philanthropy Journal webinar: February 3

Make your board meetings can't-miss events

Are you having trouble getting a quorum at your board meetings? When people come, are they looking at their watches from the moment they walk in? Do they vote for recommendations with little critical thought? It's time to turn your board meeting around.

Terrie Temkin, Ph.D., founding principal of the international consulting firm CoreStrategies for Nonprofits, Inc., will focus this session on a dozen simple changes you can initiate tomorrow to make your board meetings can't-miss events.

Some are counter-intuitive, but all are proven practices. You will walk away with specific tools to help you implement the suggested changes.
